Live your life alive

THIS IS MIDDLE WAVES

Middle Waves Music Festival returns to Headwaters Park Friday, September 14th and Saturday, September 15th for two days of Fort Wayne putting its best foot forward.

We're here to celebrate the momentum in our corner of the Midwest: the music, art, food and positive vibes that breathe life into our fair city, and keep us wide awake well after the sun goes down.

We're non-profit and volunteer-driven because we believe in this community. Its people, curiosity, appetite and sense of adventure. We believe in Fort Wayne.

Q's & A's

WHERE DO I START?

Purchase your ticket (if you haven't already!) and redeem it for your wristband at the spot on the map. Keep your wristband on all weekend, please! We are unable to replace those that are lost or removed.

WHERE DO I CROSS THE STREET?

Safety first! Please cross Clinton at the crosswalk near the front of The Village, or by using the pathway underneath the MLK bridge on the north end of the park. Alcohol may be carried under the bridge, but Indiana law prohibits crossing Clinton Street with an alcoholic beverage.

HOW MUCH OF THE FESTIVAL IS FREE?

Every area except the St. Marys Stage is free and open to the public! Come hang out and have the time of your life!

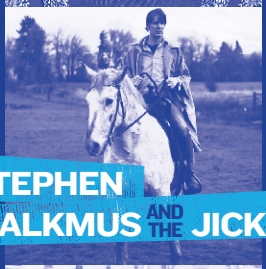
WHERE DO I PARK?

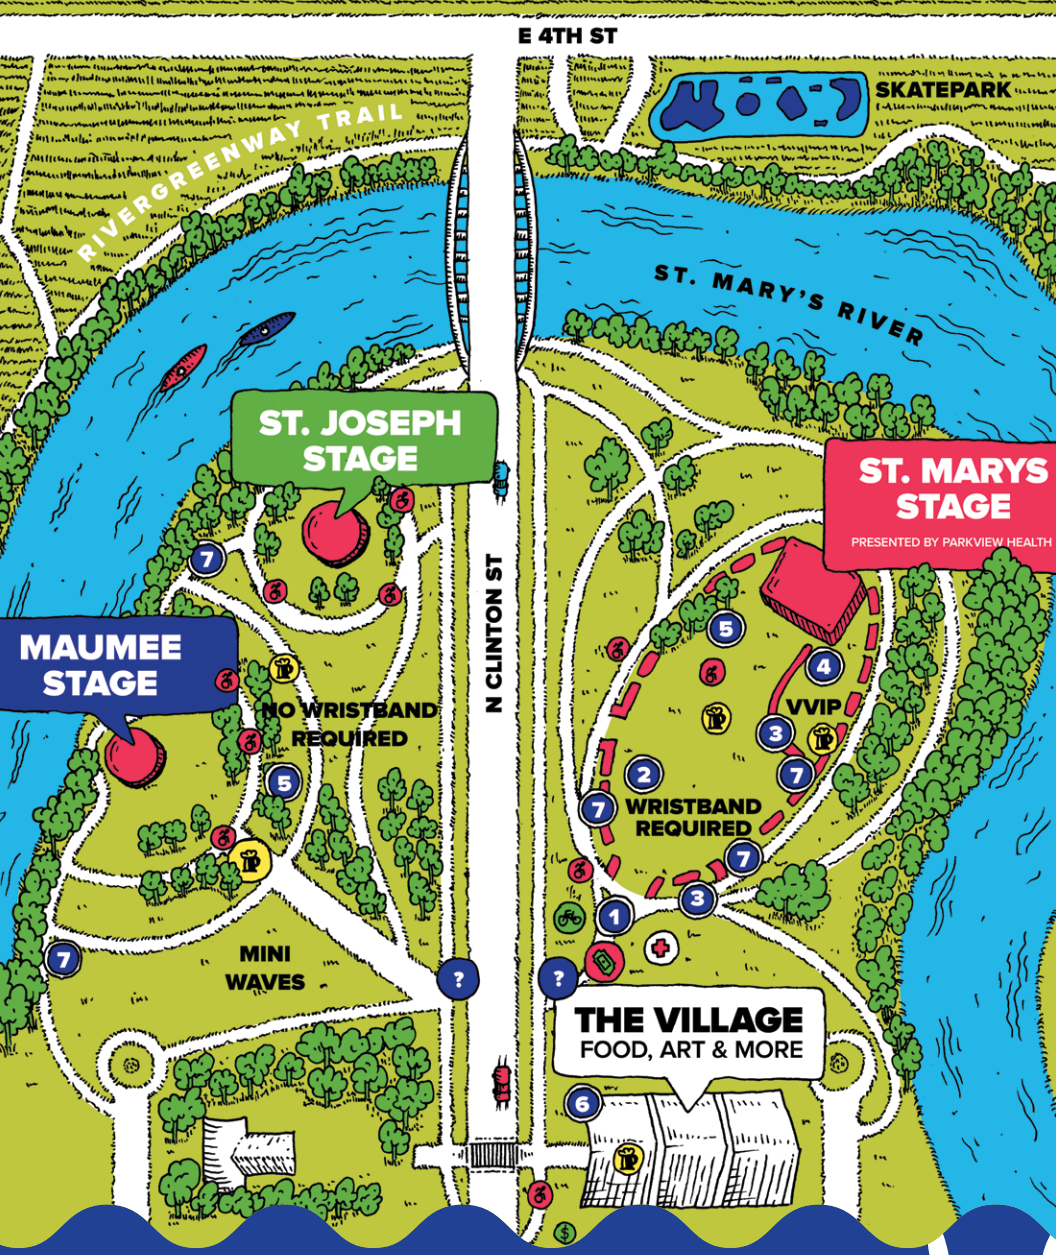
Middle Waves does not have designated parking. However, downtown is rich with options! Visit downtownfortwayne.com/parking to review the Downtown Improvement District's recommended spots.

And, don't forget our free bike valet!

IS MIDDLE WAVES KID-FRIENDLY?

You bet! Mini Waves, near the Maumee Stage on Saturday between 12 and 3 PM, is especially kid-friendly. And kids under 12 are free with a paid adult in the St. Marys Stage area. NOTE: It's possible there may be some PG-13 stage banter during some performances.





MW FESTIVAL MAP

Middle Waves ticket holders will receive a wristband to enter the gated St. Marys Stage.

However, the rest of the festival—including Maumee and St. Joseph Stages, The Village and more—is free and open to the public!

GRATITUDE:

Each and every one of our sponsors has made a courageous choice in supporting this festival. We are so very thankful for your encouragement, your resources and your insight.

Our vendors and volunteers are intrinsic to Middle Waves' identity, and we are grateful for their time, their energy and their ideas.

Middle Waves Music Festival is a nonprofit event that operates under Arts United's Cultural Advancement Projects LLC. We sincerely appreciate CAP's support and guidance.

Most of all, we're grateful for our patrons—those who've adventured out to a free stage, those who are sporting two-day GA wristbands, and those enjoying the weekend in the VVIP area. Your passion for this community, and generosity with your time, is why we invest our own time and passion in this event.

Live your life alive, friends.
